WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, Feb. 20, 1904.

Editor Press:—

Those who for some months past have been using the name of the late Senator Hanna to congure with, as a weapon for the discomforture of possible defeat of the nomination of President Roosevelt for the Presidency, now declare that the Senator's death was "inopportune," which is virtually a confession of their intentions and wishes. It is now known that Senator Hanna was loyal to President Roosevelt, as he was to all of his friends, although he may have adopted the wisdom of some of the President's policies, just as Senator Hoar did not always agree with President McKinley. The death of the great Ohio Senator, so widely lamented, has hushed all opposition to the President, at least within his own party, and he has little to apprehend from Democratic opposition siince that party is all at sea for issues, rent by many fissures, with no policy and no candidate. Thus far, out of some forty delegates chosen for the convention at Chicago, thirty-six have been instrncted to vote for President Roosevelt. The suggestion that Robert Tod Lincoln may be a candidate for the Vice Presidency is merely the afterglow of admiration for the great Lincoln. Nor is it at all likely that any member of President Roosevelt's cabinet will be put upon the ticket, notwitnstanding it contains such popular men as Hay and Taft.

The past week in Washington has been given up to mourning, with an almost complete cessation of legislation and very little political agitation. As the day draws near for the ratification of the Panama treaty, it becomes evident that it will command a very large majority and cease at once to be a political issue. As soon as the legal machinery can be set in motion preparations for beginning work on the canal will be made. Before men can be sent to the Isthmus for hard labor in the trenches it is but humane, and of the highest economical importance, that their health should be protected and conserved. To this end it is proposed to spend a million of dollars to provide the city of Panama with pure water; there must be a drainage system put in operation; hospitals will have to be built, and a code of laws provided for the government of the canal zone.

There is a rumor that Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador, may be recalled, the reason given being that he has failed to establish such relations with the Executive as to secure cordial sympathy for Russia in connection with the war in the East. At present the Count has an attack of lumbago. He was unable to attend the funeral of Senator Hanna.

All the naval officers in Washington are pleased with the results obtained by the use of torpedoes on the part of the Japanese. "We told you so," they exclaim with one voice. They also maintain that our warships should be kept in commission all the time. The General Staff of the Army has vetoed the proposal to promote officers below the rank of general by "selection." In his last message to Congress the President was in favor of such promotion, maintaining that in this way only could the best men be put in the most important places. But the General Staff is of the opinion that such a system would create too much discontent among officers who are in line of promotion.

Hal Reid's "At Cripple Creek" will be presented at the Emporium Opera House to night.

A GREAT BUFFALO STORE.

THE WILLIAM HENGERER COMPANY WILL DEVOTE ALL ITS TIME IN THE FUTURE TO RETAIL MERCHANDISING—A NEW ADVERTISER.

In 1865 William Hengerer, in connection with the late William G. Bancroft, established a wholesale business for the dry goods store of Buffalo that was then known as Barnes & Baneroth. Later, Barnes, Hengerer & Company, which succeeded the firm of Barnes and Brancroft, continued the wholesale business, as did The William Hengerer Company, which in turn succeeded Barnes & Hengerer. From a small beginning, the wholesale business increased until it reached very nearly three million dollars a year, and The William Hengerer Company sold merchandise in all the Atlantic, Middle and Western States, and had twenty-five traveling men constantly upon the road showing their samples to the retail merchants.

Within the last few months The William Hengerer Company has decided upon a radical change in its business and will devote all of its time and energy to its retail business, both in its present store and in the new Hengerer store, which is now fast nearing completion on the site formerly occupied by the old Tiffe House, in the city of Buffalo.

The William Hengerer Company will close out through its retail departments, the entire wholesale stocks, worth close on to three quarters of a million dollars.

This is without question the greatest clearing sale that has ever taken place in this part of the country, and when one stops to consider that the Hengerer store sells everything for wear and everything for the home, it is easily to realize that every want can be supplied at economy prices.

The Hengerer store is conceded by all to be the largest merchantile establishment between New York and Chicago—it is practically fifty stores in one.

Beginning this week, The Hengerer Company will be frequent advertisers in this paper, and special attention is called to their display advertisement in another column.

The Star Course Closes.

The Jansen Carnival Company in closing the Citizen Star Course last Saturday evening gave a clever exhibition of magic, supplemented with miscellaneous musical specialties by the Peet Brothers that were well received. Mr. Jansen, though young in years and in his chosen work is skillful in a high degree and demonstrated his absolute mastery of the art of magic.

The barritone singing of Mr. J. O. Peet was most pleasing and was heartily applauded—a double encore was demanded—the sweet and powerful quality of his voice seemingly increasing with each added rendition.

Artistically the Course has been a gratifying success and while the margin of financial profit has not been large, the teachers feel that they have their reward in providing for the community entertainments of so meritorious a nature. Emporium has been favored in its Institute and Star Courses, with the very cream of the Lyceum field and has developed an appreciation of the best and with anything short of the highest excellence in music, monologue or lecture will not be satisfied. The continuation of these courses, is, we believe, demanded by their delighted patrons.

Baptist Church.

Pastor and people are so perfectly united that work becomes easy and much is being accomplished. Many are soon to be united with the church and more are coming.

Pastor Twitchell takes for his subject for the coming Sunday night, "Parental Practices or the Seed of Word and Deed About the Hearth of Home." Fathers and mothers espe cialiy invited. Good singing, seats free and service a single hour.

Struck it Rich.

L. M. Ginter, of Emporium, representing Story Cotton Company, of New York City, in this county, returned last Monday from New York. Mr. Genter's friends will be pleased to learn that he made a good "speck" by investing in cotton and knowing when to sell.

A Patriotic Sermon.

It is seldom that the people of any community, and we include all of the large cities, have the privilege of listening to as fine and broad-minded sermon as was delivered by the Rev. O. S. Metzler in the First Methodist Church last Sunday morning on the text "Seek ye First the Kingdom of God and his Righteousness and all things shall be added unto you." Matthew sixth coapter and 33 verse.

It was one of those sermons that to be fully appreciated must be heard; or if read, should be reported verbatim. No synopsis can even approach doing it justice. It was a national sermon suitable for the occasion of Washington's birthday anniversary, and treated largely of our national life and prosperity and the causes contributory thereto. The great underlying thought was that our nation was founded as a christian nation. It was born, matured and reared in christianity. Its founders were God living and God fearing men. Its great father and leader, the anniversary of whose birth we to-day commemorate, was a praying man. He entered battle with prayer upon his lips, and had written in his diary as a guiding motto of his life "strive to keep alive in your heart that little spark of celestial fire called conscience." The Declaration of Indepennence and the Constitution of our mighty commonwealth both recognize the value of religion in national life. He forcibly showed that the "religious spirit" was largely responsible for our phenomenal prosperity and development; that we should guard well this spirit; that we should reject from our shores all those who come and deny the religion of Christ or who would advance any other doctrine not in harmony with it, and over and above all that the Bible was the only true guide in all religious matters; that for a nation to disregard its teachings would prove a menace to its very life; that every true American should stand for it in all public places; that it was the cornerstone of education and should be accorded a prominent place in our public schools; that countries where education most prevails are the most religious and the most prosperous; that education and a conscience begotten of the "religious spirit" were marked characteristics of many of our greatest Americans and leaders and the enviable place they hold in the love and esteem of the nation's people was due largely to the fidelity with which they adheared to these enobling qualities. They sought first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, the other things followed as a natural sequence.

The best qualities of humanity from all the great nations commingled in the blood of the American and these dominated by the religious spirit constituted the truest type of American citizenship.

It was delivered with a remarkable earnestness in an eloquent and masterful manner. The language was choice, the illustrations were apt, the sequence and conclusions were natural, the argumemt convincing, the utterance clear and distinct, and the periods beautifully rounded. It was in short, a remarkably patriotic sermon.

The PRESS would have been delighted to have given the sermon in full as delivered by the Reverend gentleman, but the fact that it was largely extemporaneous, and no stenographer present to take it as delivered, rendered this impossible.

A Course of Three Lectures.

The first of a series of three lectures for the benefit of the Sunday school workers of Cameron County will be given in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Wednesday evening, March second at 8 o'clock by the Rev. W. Q. Bennett, Ph. D., of Mauch Chunk. The subject of Dr. Bennett's lecture will be "The Secret of Soul Winning" and from the reputation of the speaker, a highly instructive and entertaining address may be expected. All the churches of the town and county will unite to make these occasions notable events, in the interest of Sunday school work and much enthusiasm it is anticipated will be aroused as a result.

The subsequent lectures will be given in Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal Church chapel and the First Baptist Church respectively, the names of the speakers to be announced later. No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be taken.

Latest Popular Music.

Miss May Gould, teacher of pianoforte, has received a full line of the latest and most popular sheet music. All the popular airs. Prices reasonable.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

PANTING.

RICHARD H. PANTING, aged 34 years, a former well known woodsman and citizen of Emporium died at Richmond, W. Va., last Friday. His remains accompanied by his mourning wife and children arrived in Emporium on Sunday afternoon on P. & E. Flyer. The funeral services were held on Monday at two p. m., Rev. O. S. Metzler, Pastor of The First Methodist Episcopal Church officiating.

The account of the death of this popular gentleman, we take from the Fairmount, W. Va., paper, viz:

Mr. Richard M. Panting died at Cook Hospital Friday evening at 5 o'clock at the age of 34 years. About two weeks ago Mr. Panting was severely injured by a fall, and when brought to the hospital was too far gone for medical skill to have any effect upon his condition, and he died at the time mentioned. He was injured through the abdomen and his injuries caused him much suffering.

Deceased was foreman for a lumber company at Richwood, and it was there that the accident occurred.

Mr. Panting was born in Canada. He was a resident of Emporium, Pa., before moving to Richwood. He is survived by his wife and five children. The family had been at the bedside for several days as was also a brother, Mr. Frank Panting, of Prince Edward Islands. Mr. Panting was a member of the Knights of the Maccabees, and this order looked after the funeral arrangements. The lodge was very attentive to the bereaved wife and family of the deceased.

The remains were prepared for burial at the Musgraves undertaking establishment and this afternoon taken to Emporium, Pa., for interment. The funeral party will not reach there before Sunday night, and the burial will take place on Monday, probably. Mr. Panting was a good citizen, honest and industrio s, and his death is much deplored.—Fairmount, (W.Va.,) News.

The Panting boys, all industrious good citizens, have resided in Emporium for several years and were greatly attached one to the other—coming here from Prince Edward Island. The deceased was called to Emporium five weeks ago to follow the remains of his brother John to his last resting place.

After coming to Emporium he married Miss Annie Freeman, daughter of E. B. Freeman, of North Creek. In addition to his wife and five children, the youngest only eleven months old, he leaves three brothers and four sisters to mourn his untimely death, A. H. Panting, of Emporium, and F. W. Panting, of Prince Edward Island, who was visiting the deceased when the accident took place, were present at the funeral, in addition to a large concourse of other relatives and friends. The sympathy of our people goes out to the bereaved wife and children, as well as the brothers and sisters in the far away home. Mr. Panting carried $3,000 life insurance—$2,000 in the Maccabees and $1,000 Prudential.

MILLER.

ADAM MILLER, aged 76 years, four months and 26 days, died at the family residence, First Fork, Wednesday, Feb. 17th, the funeral taking place at Miller School House, last Friday afternoon.

Mr. Miller has resided on the old homestead all his life, in fact was born but a short distance from his home. He was one of Grove township's best citizens. Deceased leaves a wife and one son, F. L. Miller to mourn his death. During his life he always took a lively interest in town affairs and held many offices of trust.

The family desires the PRESS to extend their thanks to all kind friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during their affliction and sickness.

CONNORS.

MRS. JANE CONNORS, aged 63 years, for many years a resident of Emporium, died at Ashtabula, O., last Saturday. Her remains arrived in Emporium last Monday, and were met at the depot by undertaker Egan and taken to the residence of her brother, Thos. Cleary, on Second street. Mass was said at St. Mark's Church Tuesday morning and the remains placed in St. Mark's Cemetery. The children of the deceased accompanied the remains.

MAY.

LAWRENCE MAY, aged 25 years, died at the home of his parents West Ward last Saturday, after an illness of only one week. The funeral was held from St. Mark's Church, on Tuesday morning. Deceased was in poor health for a long time.

"At Cripple Creek" a new play by a prominent American writer, dealing with a distinctly American subject will be presented at the Emporium Opera House to-night.

Volume Thirty-Nine.

The PRESS this week commences its 39th year. The present management cannot refrain from looking back and remembering many incidents of both pleasure and sadness. The PRESS has kept up with the times and no matter how depressed were those times not one dollar's worth of expense has been spared to give our readers one of the best strictly family papers. That our labors have been appreciated is manifest from the fact that 1902 and 1903 were the most prosperous in business, in both newspaper and jobbing departments. Our circulation continues to increase, without the least soliciting upon our part. Since Jan. 1st we have added a large number of new names to our subscription, the largest record in any year since our connection with the establishment, thirty-eight years ago. Thanks, friends. We shall endeavor to merit your patronage in the future, promising to use our best energy towards building up a larger business than ever before. We thank our friends throughout the county for the many courtesies extended, and wish all readers many happy returns of the day.

Plank Road Institute.

The Local Institute held at the Plank Road Hollow Schoal House, last Saturday was well attended, the "papers" were all very instructive and were rendered in a pleasing easy manner.

Hon. F. X. Blumle's address, "The Progress of Time," was both instructive and interesting.

The recitations and songs by the school children were given exceedingly well and showed that they were well drilled in their different parts.

Much credit is due to the Misses Moon and Miss Nettie Moore for their work in making this Institute a success.

This is the first Local Institute held by the teachers of Shippen for a number of years and it is hoped, for the benefit of the teachers and pupils, that they will continue.

A Puzzle Worth Having.

Dr. G. G. Green, of Woodbury, New Jersey, whose advertisement appears in our paper regularly, will mail to any one sending a two-cent stamp to pay postage, one of his new German Syrup and August Flower Puzzles, made of wood and glass. It amuses and perplexes young and old. Although very difficult, it can be mastered. Mention this paper. 51-3t.

Odd Fellows.

Emporium Odd Fellows will this evening enjoy a visit from Renovo Degree Team and exemplify the work. After properly exercising the goat, a banquet, to be served by the ladies of the Presbyterian church in City Hotel dining room, will be enjoyed.

Emmanuel Church.

The Rev. Percy L. Donaghay, Rector of the Church of Our Saviour, DuBois, will officiate at the services in Emmanuel Church, Friday evening, Feb. 26. The service will be at 7:30 o'clock.

BRIEF MENTION.

Go to N. Seger's if you want reliable goods at low prices. Wonderful savings in clothing of all kinds.

If want a neat fit and a reliable make of clothes, go to N. Seger and you will make on mistake.

"At Cripple Creek" will be the attraction at the Emporium Opera House to-night.

Buy your clothing now at N. Seger's if you want to save money. Big reductions in all clothing in order to make room for the spring line.

"At Cripple Creek", a drama based on Rocky Mountain life in the early eighties, will be presented at the Emporium Opera House to-night.

On Monday, the United States Senate ratified, without amendment, the Panama Canal Treaty by a vote of 66 to 14, fourteen Democrats voting with the Republicans.

WANTED:—Men or women, local representatives for a high class magazine. Large commissions. Cash prizes. Write J. N. Trainer, 80 East Washington Square, New York, N. Y. 1-4t.

John R. Robertson, of Franklin, was elected Mayor by 211 majority, over the combined Democrat—Prohibition—Populist—Socialist fusion. Mr. Robertson, who is a brother of Rev. Robertson of Emporium, is well and favorably known here, where he has many warm friends.

The Woman's HomeCompanion is especially notable for the timeliness and general interest of its articles. The March number contains as its chief feature a double page of photographs of "Flying Machines," and an account of the coming contest at St. Louis. Other timely features are "Co[illegible]nes of America," "Wireless [illegible]y, the Wonder of the Twentieth Century," and "The Coming War," by Hudson Maxim. Ernest Harold Baynes writes about "Owls." Mrs. Will H. Low tells housewives how the French cook meats, Miss Gould, the fashion expert, gives hints of spring fashions. Published by The Crowell Publishing Company, Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

The Catholic Home Bureau wishes to find homes in good Catholic families where orphan children may be adopted, and brought up under the influence of a happy, moral home.

Families wishing to adopt or receive a child of any age, under 12 years, are invited to correspond with the Catholic Home Bureau, 105 E. 22d St., New York City.

A strong and brilliant Company will exploit Hal Reid's latest drama, "At CrippleCreek," at the Emporium Opera House to night.

Fine Attraction.

"At Cripple Creek" a play of the most intense human interest and replete with comedy and novel effects will be presented at the Emporium Opera House to-night with the strongest company of actors ever engaged for a melodrama. Hal Reid, the well known American play-wright, is the author of the piece and in "At Cripple Creek" is judged by competent critics to have eclipsed all his former efforts. A wealth of magnificent scenery has been provided and every act is a marvel of ingenuity and beauty. The setting of the third act is particularly effective and dislosees a mine scene of the most striking and weird grandeur.

Large Attendance at Court.

The largest attended court in many years convened at this place on Monday, with Hons. C. A Mayer and Associates Geo. A. Walker and John McDonald presiding. A large amount of important business was transacted and many cases disposed of. Court adjourned on Wednesday afternoon. A special two weeks term has been called for May 31st, when eight railroad cases will be tried, Johnson & McNarney and Green & Shaffer are retained by the litigants.

Fine Bowling Contest.

Port Allegany will meet Emporium in fourth bowling game Friday, Feb. 26th, 1904. Port Allegany won the first game on the St. Clair beds Tuesday, January 29th. The Port Allegany Team lost on the Emporium beds Friday evening, Feb. 5th. Emporium lost on Port Allegany beds Feb. 18th. Game called at 8:00 o'clock, p m., admission fifteen cents. Everybody invited. Seats reserved for ladies.

Slight Stroke.

Last Friday, Geo. Webber, one of the efficient engineers on Buffalo Division, was stricken with paralysis. At this writing he is improving.

The War News.

In the war between Japan and Russia, reports of victories and defeats reach this country across 15,000 miles of the ocean's bed The tiny electric impetus put in motion by the key of the operator in far Nagasaki instantly plunges under the eastern sea and comes to land in China, near Shanghai, 476 miles away. Then that little throb works southward round the China coast to Hongkong, 945 miles. At Hongkong (British) it dives under the China sea to Saigon, in Anam (French), 951 miles; from Saigon it crosses the bed of the sea to Singapore (British), 626 miles. Or it might go by way of Labuan, Borneo (British), 1,971 miles. Through the Malacca strait to Penang (398 miles), and then a great plunge westward through the wild Nicobars and under the tropic Bengal sea (1,389 miles), to Madras. At Madras it takes to the land until it comes to Bombay. Never resting the brave little spark takes to the water again, traverses the broad Arabian sea to Aden (1,850 miles), threads its way up the scorching Red sea, flying ever westward, to Alexandria (1,534 miles). And from Alexandria it travels deep under the balmy Mediterranean to Malta, out to Lisbon, and so on to London (3,205 miles), and thence across the Atlantic. Every word forced so laboriously through these 15,000 miles of solid wire costs 65 cents. This is the newly reduced rate for press messages at which many thousands of words are being sent. For private messages the rate is three times larger. It is difficult to give any very definite idea of what the war will cost the newspapers for telegraphy. Probably few persons have any idea of the vast sums which would be swallowed up in a single day's news provided by the New York and Chicago newspapers on the occasion of, say, a great naval battle. For two short messages from Japan, consisting of about 100 and 150 words, respectively, the bare telegraphic cost approaches $150, although some of the "the's" and "and's" in such cablegrams as they appear in the newspapers would not be telegraphed. In the event of a big battle, it may safely be assumed that the big American papers pay thousands of dollars in cable tolls alone. If the war is to be a hard-fought one, long drawn out, and with several severe engagements, that sum may easily be multiplied by 20.

Colonization's Great Cost.

The price of colonization in Africa is a heavy one, both in life and treasure. Every European power which has African possessions pays it. The history of British interests in the great continent is bloody practically from the beginning, and it is still being written red in Somaliland; France has had her troubles in Algeria, and is constantly finding fresh ones to the south and along the Morocco frontier; one of the most dreadful episodes in Italian history was worked out in Abyssinia a few years ago; Portugal has had many conflicts with the natives; Belgium has the disgrace of the Congo atrocities, and now comes Germany with an uprising of blacks that threatens to overshadow anything of the kind that has occurred in Africa. Surely that vast territory was aptly named the Dark Continent.

In Mexico they have a way of doing things to pickpockets that certainly is discouraging to the profession. Instead of hauling them up before a justice and fining them "five dollars and costs" when they probably stole $25, as they do in Chicago, the Mexicans sentence them to serve in the army. Pickpockets are not likely to do a rushing business in the army, for if anybody ever heard of a Mexican soldier having enough money to be worth stealing he never told of it.

An old merchant says that circulars and booklets can reach but a limited number of people, and that the most widely circulated magazines are not read by a considerable portion of the public. The newspapers, however, are read by virtually everybody, and as "you can never tell who will prove a profitable customer," the chances are overwhelming that the newspapers will reach him where other agencies will not.

SENATOR M. A. HANNA SUCCUMBS TO THE GRIM REAPER

All the Members of the Senator's Family, with the Exception of Mrs. Hanna, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hanna, Were in the Room When Death Came.

Simple but Impressive Ceremonies Are Held in the Hall of the Senate---President Roosevelt, His Cabinet, Members of the Senate and House of Representatives, Supreme Court and Other Notables Were Present.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Senator Marcus Alonzo Hanna died at 6:40 o'clock Monday evening at the family apartments in the Arlington hotel, after an illness extending over nearly two months, filled with apparent recoveries, followed by relapses and finally drifting into typhoid fever, which in his weakened condition he was unable to withstand. When the end came all the members of the senator's family were in the room except Mrs. Hanna, the senator's wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hanna. Mrs. Hanna had left the room only a few minutes before.

The last sinking spell began at exactly 6:30 o'clock. Drs. Carter and Osler were then in attendance. They did not conceal the fact that life was about to end and all members of the family were sent for. Mrs. McCormick, one of the senator's daughters, and Miss Phelps were present when the end came. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hanna were the first to arrive and they withdrew immediately to the chamber of the senator's wife to summon her to the bedside. It was while they were absent the senator breathed his last.

MARCUS ALONZO HANNA.

In the meantime Mr. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons and H. M. Hanna had entered the room. Mr. Dover stood in the door. There were no distressing incidents attending the last moments. It was a sinking spell which terminated in ten minutes. Just after his eyes closed in death Mrs. Hanna came into the room.

We are indebted to the Cleveland World for the following biographical sketch of Senator Hanna:

Hon. Marcus Alonzo Hanna was born September 24, 1837, at Lisbon, Columbiana county, Ohio. His mother came from a family of staunch, old Scotch Presbyterians of Vermont. His father's family had been Virginia Quakers for about a hundred years back.

Leonard Hanna, the father was a practicing physician in Lisbon, but finding it was not lucrative enough to support his family of eight, he moved to Cleveland in 1852, and organized the grocery firm of Hanna, Garretson & Co.

Marcus had attended the schools at Lisbon and completed his public school education in Cleveland. He then started in at Western Reserve University, but after a year at that institution went to work as a clerk in his father's store.

In 1862 the elder Hanna died, and the management of the store devolved upon Mark. His close attention to business in the five years he had worked as a clerk stood him in good stead now, and he conducted the business very successfully until the firm dissolved in 1867.

At the age of 30 he married Miss Rhodes, daughter of Daniel P. Rhodes, and went into business with his father-in-law, of the firm of Rhodes & Co., dealers in coal, iron ore and pig iron.

In 1877, Mark became senior partner of this firm and changed the name to M. A. Hanna & Co.

By this time he had learned the business thoroughly and had purchased mines until his firm was known all over the country. He treated his workmen like equals and was therefore well-liked by them. He was generally successful in strikes.

Up to this time he had dabbled a little in politics and had been sent to the republican national convention in 1884, pledged to nominate John Sherman.

The first step in active politics was to organize the Cleveland Business Men's Marching club. He got the business men of the city interested in politics, made them attend their ward caucuses, and made the club a power. In 1888, Hanna was again sent to the republican national convention as district delegate, and worked for John Sherman.

In the days when Hanna had been devoting his time to the coal and iron business there was a strike in one of his western Ohio mines, and some of the discontented miners burned several of the mine shafts. Hanna went to the district to prosecute them, and lost his case. The lawyer for the miners was William McKinley, and although defeated by him, Hanna struck up a warm friendship for McKinley.

He began McKinley's preliminary presidential campaign in 1894 and 1895. In 1896 he was chosen as chairman of the national committee, and, after the hard fight of that year McKinley was elected president.

When John Sherman left the United States senate in 1897 to become secretary of state, Gov. Bushnell appointed Hanna to fill out Sherman's term in the senate.

In 1898 he was elected to the United States senate by the Ohio legislature and was recently re-elected for another term.

In 1900 he was again chosen as chairman of the national committee, and again won the fight for McKinley.

During Senator Hanna's political career he has also been successful in his business ventures. He was a director in the Globe Shipbuilding Co., and president until the recent consolidation of the Cleveland City Railway Co.

Washington, Feb. 18.—In the presence of the grief stricken family, of many friends whose sorrow was scarcely less pronounced, of the senate and house of representatives, of dignitaries of the other branches of government and of the chief official representatives of most of the foreign powers, the funeral of the late Senator Hanna occurred Wednesday in the senate chamber.

In the front rank of the assemblage gathered about the bier of the departed statesman sat the president. He was flanked by the members of his cabinet. Nearby were the chief justice and the associate justices of the supreme court of the United States, garbed in their black robes of office.

The religious ceremony was placed in the hands of Dr. Edward Everett Hale, chaplain of the senate. The ceremony began shortly after 12 o'clock, but the gallery doors were thrown open long before that hour, and by 11 o'clock fully half the gallery seats were occupied. The casket was borne into the chamber by a squad of capitol police, and was followed by the official committee with Senator Foraker and Gen. Grosvenor at its head. Slowly the little procession moved down the main aisle of the chamber and the casket was placed upon the catafalque which was to hold it.

President Pro Tem Frye then addressed the senate, saying: "Senators: You have solemnly and lovingly dedicated this day to an observance of a proper funeral ceremony over Marcus A. Hanna, late a distinguished member of this body, and all business will be suspended to that end. We will unite in prayer with the chaplain of the national house of representatives."

Chaplain Couden then offered his invocation.

Hanna's Body Back to Cleveland.

Cleveland, Feb. 19.—No more touching tribute has been paid to the memory of Senator Hanna than that accorded the funeral cortege as it moved yesterday from the station to the chamber of commerce. For more than two miles along Euclid avenue, on either side, mourning citizens stood in the biting cold with uncovered heads, to show their respect for a fellow-townsman.

At the head was a battalion of mounted police in command of Chief Kohler. Then followed the guard of honor, Troop A, mounted. The funeral car was immediately in the rear. This was closed.

It was just 12 o'clock Thursday noon when the casket containing Senator Hanna's body was carried into the chamber auditorium by his old friends, Gov. Herrick, Samuel Mather, W. B. Sanders, J. B. Zerbe, Andrew Squire, C. A. Grasselli, A. B. Hough and W. J. McKinnie.

From the entrance of the chamber building, through the lobby and to the exits in the rear stood a double file of soldiers, the engineers, O. N. G. Their blue coats, with bright red capes, added a touch of color to the somber scene. As the coffin was carried slowly down the aisle the engineers stood at "present arms." Slowly the pallbearers bore the casket to its resting place on the bier, which stood in the middle of the auditorium. This bier was the one used at Canton at the time of President McKinley's funeral, and the flag that draped it then was used again Thursday. Behind the pallbearers walked Secretary Tod Galloway, the governor's staff and Gen. Mylett, retired, U. S. A. Then came the directors of the chamber of commerce, then a delegation from the Builders' exchange, and in the rear a delegation from the Tippecanoe club and a committee representing the Cuyahoga legislative delegation.

After the casket had been placed beneath the great canopy of black that hung over the bier the lid was removed and an opportunity given for the close friends of the senator who had borne his body to take a final look at his face.

After the pallbearers had viewed the remains they were followed by the others who had entered with the casket. The doors of the auditorium had meanwhile been closed in order that the public might be excluded until the floral pieces, a carload of which was brought from Washington, might be arranged. This took some time and it was almost 1 o'clock when the doors were thrown open to the immense crowd that had been waiting outside in the cold.

With the snow drifting about their feet and the icy wind blowing into their faces, thousands upon thousands of Clevelanders stood for hours Thursday afternoon waiting for a chance to pass into the auditorium of the chamber of commerce. Seventy-five policemen soon had the crowd reduced to double ranks. Two abreast they passed into the chamber.

The first services to be held in Cleveland over the remains of Senator Hanna were those conducted by the members of Memorial post, G. A. R., Thursday evening. At 9:30 the chamber of commerce auditorium was cleared of the general public and only members of the post admitted.

Senator Hanna's Funeral.

Cleveland, Feb. 20.—At noon Friday the casket containing the body of Senator Hanna was lifted from the bier on which it had stood for 24 hours, while Cleveland citizens by the tens of thousands had passed by for a last sight of the dead, and was borne to the hearse.

For five hours Friday morning, from 6 to 11, the public was given its last opportunity to see the face of Senator Hanna.

The funeral services were held in St. Paul's Episcopal church, Euclid and Case avenues, beginning at 1 p. m.

It was past the noon hour when the pallbearers carried the casket through the doors of the chamber of commerce to the street. Immediately the procession formed in line for the journey to the church. At the head rode Chief Kohler with a squad of mounted police. Next rode three platoons of Troop A, on black horses with swords at carry.

The troop preceded the hearse, which was followed by 100 carriages carrying the official guests. The procession reached the church at 12:55.

The pallbearers took their seats as soon as they had deposited the casket in the nave. Gov. Herrick and his staff filed in and were seated. The senators and congressmen composing the congressional delegation took the seats reserved for them. Secretaries of the cabinet, Gov. Durbin, of Indiana, and his staff, members of the state senate and house, representatives of the National Civic Federation, Loyal Legion of Honor, Sons of the American Revolution and other organizations followed.

After a pause of a few minutes the services began, conducted by the clergymen, who had met the body at the church door. St. Paul's choir chanted the psalms beginning, "Lord, let me know the number of my days, that I will be certified how long I live," and "Lord, Thou hast been our refuge from one generation to another." President Pierce of Kenyon college, read the lesson from I Corinthians, beginning with the 20th verse.

"Lead, Kindly Light," a favorite hymn of the dead man, was sung by the choir. Rt. Rev. W. A. Leonard, bishop of the diocese of Ohio, delivered an address eulogizing the senator's life.

The anthem, "Lord, Let Me Know Thy Name," and a benediction pronounced by the bishop concluded the service. The pallbearers again took up the casket, and as they bore it from the church, followed by the mourners, the choir sang the recessional, "Now the Laborer's Work is O'er."

By request, the congregation kept its seats while the body was being carried out and the members of the family were leaving the church and taking their places in their carriages.

Long before the church was empty, however, the body of Senator Hanna was on its way to its temporary resting place in a crypt in Wade memorial chapel at Lake View cemetery.

Publishers Up in Arms Against the Paper Trusts.

If the Tariff on Wood Pulp Were Abolished, It Is Claimed, the Trusts Would Be Forced to Alter Their Methods—Will Fight Combine

New York, Feb. 19.—An important resolution, touching on the trust question, was adopted Thursday by the American Newspaper Publishers' association, in convention here. The resolution follows: "Resolved, That the American Newspaper Publishers' association request the president of the United States and the attorney general to institute a suit against any of the three paper combinations to test the legality of their existence and whether they do not stifle competition."

During the discussion preceding the adoption of the resolution Don Seitz and John Norris, business managers of the New York World and Times, respectively, attacked the methods of the International Paper Co. On behalf of the World Mr. Seitz offered $10,000 toward a fund to carry on a national agitation for the removal of the duty on wood pulp for paper making, claiming that this step was necessary for the welfare of the newspaper industry.

Mr. Seitz said that the paper situation in the United States is steadily growing worse, the drouth of the last three or four months emphasizing the predicament of the newspaper industry through the operations of the International Paper Co. The company, he said, controlling every factor of the paper-making industry, had, instead of increasing its facilities and accumulating a reserve stock for emergencies, deliberately set out to restrict the output of printing paper in order to secure complete domination of the market.

During the five years of its existence, he said, it had not put in a single new machine, had reduced its output of news paper at least 300 tons per day and had perfected arrangements with independent mills to maintain prices. Overcapitalized to begin with, he said, it was impoverishing itself in purchasing wood lands at high prices to shut out competition and to enrich insiders, the whole to the ultimate burden of the newspapers, which could not well increase the price of their papers or advertising.

Mr. Morris, of the Times, declared that newspapers are today threatened with a paper famine, many of the papers being on a "hand to mouth" basis, and that the manufacturers had deliberately shut down on production.

Mentioning the various combinations in the paper industry, he declared that these methods suggested the remedy and he urged the formation of a pool of newspaper publishers to offer inducements to capitalists to establish independent mills outside the trust and ensure reasonable prices for paper.

At the afternoon session the committee to which the subject had been referred reported in favor of the accumulation of a fund of $100,000 to promote an agitation "for release from the oppression of the paper combination," and this report was unanimously adopted by the association.

KILLED IN HIS OFFICE.

A Brooklyn Business Man Is Murdered by a Man from Illinois.

New York, Feb. 19.—George B. Jennings, president of the Jennings Adjustable Shade Co., was shot and killed Thursday in his office in Brooklyn by Frank McNamara, superintendent of one of the departments of the Elgin Watch Co.'s factory at Elgin, Ill. According to two of Jennings' clerks, who were in the office, Jennings and McNamara were engaged in a heated dispute, the subject of which is unknown, when McNamara thrust a revolver against Jennings' side and fired, the bullet passing through his heart and death ensuing instantly.

McNamara threw away his revolver and ran out into the street, pursued by the two clerks who captured him and turned him over to the police. McNamara refused to say why he shot Jennings. He came here a week ago from Elgin, where, it is said, he has a wife and eight children.

BOGUS TENSPOTS.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Is Flooded with Counterfeit Money that Fools Even the Experts.

New York, Feb. 19.—The experts at the United States sub-treasury in this city have discovered that Brooklyn is being flooded with an extraordinary good counterfeit of the "Buffalo" ten-dollar bill. About 15 of these bills have been turned in by banks in the last fortnight, and nearly every bill came out of Brooklyn.

The counterfeit bills are declared by the experts at the sub-treasury to be the best ever seen there. The engraving of the bills is so good as to enable them to defy detection even ith a glass, and the counterfeiters ave discovered a way to imitate the government paper to perfection. It is only by the "feel" of the bills that the specimens have been discovered so far. The notes are so like the real ones that the tellers at the banks have been completely deceived by them.

Statehood for Oklahoma.

Washington, Feb. 19.—As the result of the territorial hearings for statehood, the prediction is made from reliable sources that a bill will be reported in the near future from the house committee on territories joining Oklahoma and Indian Territory into a single state under the name of Oklahoma. This state will not be admitted, however, until after the allotment of lands by the Dawes commission has been completed and the school land question has been settled. This will take two years. The state when admitted will have a population of about 800,000.

JAPANESE-RUSSIAN WAR.

Latest Telegraphic News of the Great Struggle in the Far East.

London, Feb. 16.—The voluminous dispatches from the far east published here this morning are again characterized by absence of real light on the situation. Numerous unconfirmed and conflicting rumors are given, and among them is a report of another engagement at Port Arthur in which the Russians lost eight vessels sunk and ten captured.

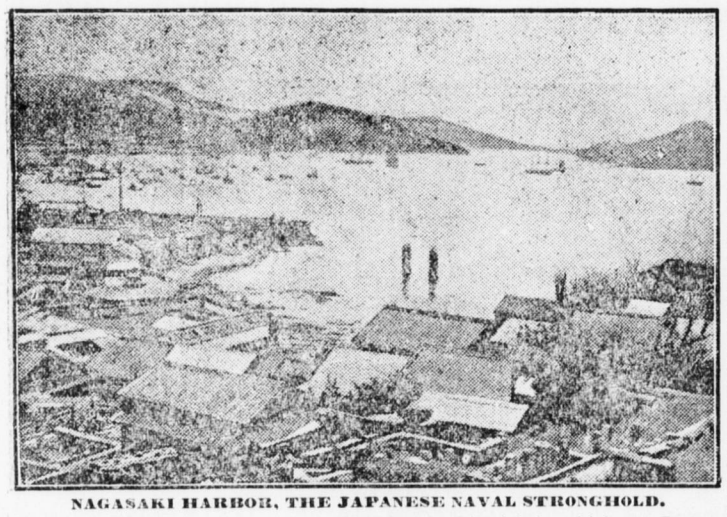
Tokio, Feb. 17.—A report has just reached here that the Japanese torpedo fleet reattacked the Russian fleet at Port Arthur on February 14 and it is thought that one Russian warship was damaged.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 17.—A dispatch received here from Port Arthur, dated February 15, denies that the Japanese are landing at Ching-Wang-Too, a port on the southern border of Manchuria.

The Russian cruiser Boyarin was blown up by a mine February 13 in the same manner as was the Russian torpedo transport Yenisei. She had on board 197 officers and men, all of whom, it is understood, were lost.

Berlin, Feb. 17.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Tagliche Rundschau says that 600 Russian soldiers have been frozen to death while marching across Lake Baikal, eastern Siberia.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 18.—The rigid censorship imposed here upon all news from the far east completely masks the movements of Russian troops and the plans of those in command, but what is being done is evidently satisfactory to the authorities here, as they manifest the utmost confidence that when the proper time arrives the enemy will be crushed. They say that the preliminary sea victories of the Japanese will then be speedily forgotten. Russia was taken unawares at the outset and some little time will be required to complete the mobilization of Russian troops.



NAGASAKI HARBOR, THE JAPANESE NAVAL STRONGHOLD.

A dispatch received here from Port Arthur dated February 17 says that in the action off that port on February 14 the Russian volunteer fleet steamer Kherson was struck by a 12-inch shell in her upper works. A slight fire broke out, which was quickly extinguished.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The Japanese legation yesterday received from the foreign office at Tokio the following dispatch giving details of the torpedo attack at Port Arthur on the morning of the 14th:

"On the 13th of February a detachment of torpedo boat destroyers proceeded, braving the fierce north storm, toward Port Arthur. At 3 o'clock the next morning, the Asagiri, a Japanese torpedo boat destroyer, amidst a shower of shells from the enemy's fort and ships, torpedoed a Russian man-of-war and, farther firing on the enemy's guard boat, safely returned to its headquarters. The Hayatori, another Japanese torpedo boat destroyer, at 5 o'clock of the same morning approached to the mouth of the port, where she found two of the enemy's men-of-war and in defiance of their firing immediately torpedoed one of them and safely withdrew."

Berlin, Feb. 18.—The admiralty here has received confirmation of the reports that Japanese landing operations on a vast scale are taking place on both of Korea's northern coasts and it is assumed by the German authorities that Japan will be ready by early spring for a forward land movement supported by properly equipped bases. Possibly 250,000 men will be in the field before a collision takes place with the Russians in force.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 19.—A long official dispatch from Viceroy Alexieff was given out yesterday, recounting details of the fight of February 9 at Port Arthur. It says it is known that a number of Japanese ships suffered severely, which accounts for their not following up the attack.

After giving a list of the ships engaged, with the names of their commanders, Admiral Alexieff says:

"Our losses were: Of the squadron—five officers wounded, 14 men killed and 69 men wounded.

"Of the fortress and garrison: One man killed, one man severely wounded and five men slightly wounded."

Port Arthur, Feb. 19.—The repairs to the Russian warships damaged during the bombardment of February 9 are rapidly proceeding. The Czarevitch, Ritvizan and Pallada will soon rejoin the fleet. The work is being carried on with the aid of caissons.

The railroad is undamaged and Port Arthur is calm. All the troops are eagerly awaiting an opportunity to meet the Japanese in an open fight.

Paris, Feb. 19.—An eminent military authority connected with one of the embassies said yesterday that Port Arthur was practically besieged and it was a serious question whether this would not compel either the abandonment or the surrender of the fortress with its men and material.

London, Feb. 19.—The Japanese legation here received an official dispatch from Tokio last night saying it was not true that any Japanese vessels had been destroyed, so far, in any of the various naval engagements, and that all necessary repairs had already been made.

This message also denies the report that the Japanese were driven from the neighborhood of Kin-Chau, after a skirmish in which 150 Japanese were taken prisoners, and declares that the Japanese made no attempt to land at Pigeon Bay.

Tokio, Feb. 20.—The response of Japan to the request of China for a statement of its position in regard to the neutrality of the latter country was made public Friday. Its text is as follows:

"The imperial government, desiring to avoid as far as possible a disturbance of the peaceful condition of affairs which prevails in China, will in all parts of Chinese territory excepting the regions now occupied by Russia, respect the neutrality of China sa long as Russia does the same.

"Furthermore, the rights of Chinese officials and inhabitants within the zone of military operations will be fully protected by the imperial forces, so far as military necessity permits. In the event, however, that they should extend aid to the enemy of Japan, the imperial government reserve to themselves the right to take such action as the circumstances require."

It says in conclusion that the war is not being waged by the Japanese for the purpose of conquest, but solely in defense of her legitimate interests, and consequently the imperial government has no intention to acquire territory at the expense of China as a result of the conflict.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—War Minister Kuropatkin, who is going to the far east, will be appointed commander-in-chief of the army operations there and Vice Admiral Makaroff, who is now on his way east on a train which is expected to reach Port Arthur in ten days, is to be commander-in-chief of the navy.

The Russian government yesterday abolished the censorship on all news and other telegrams going abroad.

The international censorship is to be retained, but foreign dispatches are to be entirely free. Inasmuch as a state of war exists, telegrams from the theatre of hostilities will be subject to the same kind of military censorship enforced in all countries under similar circumtances.

Paris, Feb. 20.—A representative of the Matin who has reached the center of the Russian military concentration at Harbin after great hardships, due to the trans-Siberian railway trains being crowded with thousands of soldiers, in a dispatch from Harbin confirms the announcement that that place will be the main base of the Russian land operations. Thus far the base has succeeded in maintaining its communication with Port Arthur. The concentration of troops proceeds systematically and provision has been made for the speedy arrival of 120,000 men from Moscow, Kieff and Warsaw. Before 12 days shall have elapsed the Russians will have an army of 400,000 men in Manchuria.

Churches Consolidate.

St. Louis, Feb. 19.—It is stated on good authority that the proposed federation of the Cumberland and Presbyterian churches became an assured fact at the conclusion of Thursday's conference of the subcommittees representing the general committees of both bodies which have been in session the past few days. It was announced on the authority of one of the most prominent churchmen present that all matters pertaining to the consolidation of the two churches have been amicably arranged.

SEVEN MEN SHOT.

Two of the Wounded Men May Not Live.

Constables Organized a Posse of Citizens and Attempted to Close Up a Pool Room at Madison, Ill.—A Pitched Battle Follows.

St. Louis, Feb. 20.—In an effort to close up a pool room that has for a long time operated in the outskirts of Madison, Ill., across the river from St. Louis, three constables, augmented by a posse of citizens, and bearing warrants for the arrest of six men connected with the pool room, precipitated a riot yesterday which resulted in the shooting of seven men. Two may die.

Warrants had been sworn out before Justice of the Peace Isenmeyer, of Granite City, adjoining Madison, and placed in the hands of Constable John Glass and two other constables for the arrest of Whitefield Brooks and Eugene Wall, of Granite City, and Thomas Riley, Charles Greenfield, Thomas Manley and Martin Johns, of St. Louis, charging them with being connected with the pool room. After the failure of the Madison county grand jury, which recently investigated the pool room, to return indictments citizens took the matter in hand with the intention of having the pool room closed.

Several days ago warrants were issued for State Senator David Nelson, of Missouri, charging him with being a pool seller, and Victor Schuler, charging him with conducting the pool room and being custodian of the funds. Schuler was arrested Thursday and gave bond of $500 pending a hearing. The additional warrants were sworn out Friday and three constables appeared at the pool room to serve them. Two policemen were within and declared they had arrested the operators of the pool room and were guarding them. Betting was going on as usual at the time. The constables were ordered to leave the premises, which they did after argument.

Proceeding through the neighborhood for the next half hour the constables organized a posse of armed citizens numbering about 50 persons. The constables and posse then returned to the pool room and entered. They were at once ordered out and the doors were ordered locked. The posse demurred and words followed. One posse man, it is stated, pointed a shotgun at Policeman McCambridge, who fired a revolver into the ceiling. Firing then became general. The policeman was shot through the body. The crowd in the pool room scattered hurriedly, many fleeing into a waiting Illinois Central train until it became packed. When the fusilade was over the constables and posse had possession.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

Bad Weather Alone Prevents a Definite Revival of Business.

New York, Feb. 20.—R. G. Dun & Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Inclement weather alone prevents a definite revival of business. Outdoor work is retarded and traffic impeded to an extent that cannot be accurately measured, but is obviously sufficient to neutralize the favorable effect of many encouraging factors, while winter wheat is threatened, although not yet definitely injured, and early farm preparations must be postponed.

Several leading branches of manufacture are increasing active capacity, and thousands of interior buyers are placing liberal orders at the prnicipal cities. The usual temporary advantages of war are felt in the markets for staple commodities, notably foodstuffs, but, while this helps the domestic producer, it harms a much larger number by enhancing prices to home consumers. There is little friction between employers and wage earners, except regarding the bituminous scale, but the cause of industrial peace has lost its foremost champion.

When spring building operations begin, a large demand for iron and stell is expected and contracts are soon to be placed for Baltimore work. A large tonnage of rails is announced.

Failures this week numbered 287 in the United States, against 247 last year, and 20 in Canada, compared with 26 a year ago.

PAINT FACTORY BURNED.

A Big Blaze at Brooklyn, N. Y.—Hundreds of Families Evicted from Tenements.

New York, Feb. 20.—A destructive fire broke out last night in the extensive paint works of F. W. Devoe & C. T. Reynolds Co., Brooklyn. The fire started from some unknown cause and, owing to the highly inflammable character of the contents of the buildings the works were soon destroyed. The firemen directed their efforts to preventing the spread of the fire to the adjacent property, consisting of tenement houses.

The buildings occupied by the paint works were stored with large quantities of oil and chemicals, it being stated that more than 1,500 barrels of linseed oil were stored in the plant.

Over 1,500 families were evicted from the tenements and given temporary refuge by neighbors. There was no loss of life.

Arrest of a Counterfeiter.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 20.—Benton Bowman, of this city, was arrested here Friday, charged with making counterfeit silver dollars, half dollars, quarter dollars and nickels, which he is alleged to have sold to David A. Wilson, at one-third their face value. Wilson was also arrested and was released on $100 bail for a hearing next week. Bowman was unable to secure bail and was committed to jail. He confessed to being a counterfeiter and said Wilson agreed to take $500 worth of the spurious coin every month. Wilson is the proprietor of a saloon.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

TO THE REPUBLICAN ELECTORS OF PENNSYLVANIA:

I am directed by the Republican State Committee to announce that the Republicans of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in convention at the Opera House in the city of Harrisburg, on Wednesday, April 6, 1904, at ten thirty o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the following offices, to-wit:

One person for the office of Judge of the Supreme Court.

Thirty-four persons, two at large, for presidential electors, and,

To elect four delegates and four alternates at large to the Republican National Convention to be held in Chicago, on June 21, 1904, also

For the transaction of such othter business as may be presented.

In accordance with the rules governing the organization, the representation in the State Convention will be based on the vote polled at the last presidential election: Under the rules each legislative district is entitled to one delegate from every two thousand votes cast for presidential electors in 1900, and additional delegate for every fraction of two thousand votes polled in excess of one thousand.

By order of the Republican State Committee.

EDITORIAL MENTION.

Real estate cannot be transferred (deeded) on Sunday. The better the day the worse the deed.

Judging from reports, the Southern Democrats have had enough of Bryan. But Bryan has not had enough of the Southern Democrats.

The action of Secretary Hay in trying to protect the territorial integrity of China and to limit the area of hostilities in the East meets with the universal approval of all parties.

It is not believed that the most accomplished cartoonists can make as horrible cartoons of any living man during the coming campaign as were made of Senator Hanna eight years ago.

The discussion of statehood for four territories seems to cause general effervescence. New York City now wants to be sawed off and made into a state all by itself. No, she will have to endure her "servitude" a little longer.

It is proposed to add 3,000 to the total force of the navy. This will bring the number up to 34,000. Thus our navy alone is to be larger than our entire military force before the Spanish War. Aren't we growing at a tremendous rate?

The Democrats seem to have started a movement to abolish the Geological Survey, on the ground that it has spent twenty million dollars and has nothing to show for it. The reason for this effort to destroy one of our most important scientific bureaus is, of course, that very few Democrats know anything whatever about geology.

In Congress on Monday there was an exciting scene when Congressman Shafroth, Dem., of Colorado, took the extraordinary step of peremptorily resigning his seat because on careful inspection of the returns he had concluded that there was dishonesty by which he he had unconsciously profited. Both parties eagerly applauded his magnanimity and honesty.

A Cure for Eczema.

My baby had Eczema so bad that its head was a solid mass of scabs, and its hair all came out. I tried many remedies but none seemed to do any permanent good until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The Eczema is cured, the scabs are gone and the little one's scalp is perfectly clean and healthy, and its hair is growing beautifully again, I cannot give too much praise to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve.—Frank Farmer, Bluff City, Ky. In buying Witch Hazel Salve look out for counterfeits. DeWitt's is the original and the only one containing pure Witch Hazel. The name E. C. DeWitt & Co., is on every box. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Letter to R. Seger & Son.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: The way to reckon the cost of paint is to put both costs together. the cost of the paint and the cost of putting it on.

It would save this country hundreds of millions of dollars a year; it would save you alone (if you happen to be a victim) several dollars a year.

See how it works: It costs as much to put on one paint as another, don't it?

Yes if you use the same number of gallons.

Well, don't It?

No, you'll use twice as many gallons adulterated paint as of Devoe; and you've got to pay twice as much for putting it on.

Mr N. Avery, Delhi, N. Y., has two houses alike and in same condition. Painted one house with Devoe; 8 gallons. Painted the other house with a paint that was half adulteration; 12 gallons, Same painter Geo. Gilbert, did both jobs. One cost $27; the other $24.

Better go by the name.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & C.

Relief in One Minute.

One Minute Cough Cure gives relief in one minute, because it kills the microbe which tickles the mucous membrane, causing the cough, and at the same time clears the phlegh, draws out the inflammation and heals and soothes the affected parts. One Minute Cough Cure strengthens the lungs, wards off pneumonia and is a harmless and never failing cure in all curable cases of Coughs, Colds and Croup. One Minute Cough Cure is pleasant to take, harmless and good alike for young and old. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Uncover the cause of sin and you discover its cure.

A Wonderful Saving.

The largest Methodist Church in Georgia, calculated to use over one hundred gallons of the usual kind of mixed paint in painting their church.

They used only 32 gallons of the Longman & Martinez Paint with 24 gallons of linseed oil. Actual cost of paint made was less than $1.20 per gallon.

Saved over eighty ($80.00) dollars in paint, and got a big donation besides.

EVERY CHURCH will be given a liberal quantity whenever they paint.

Many houses are well painted with four gallons of L. & M., and three gallons of linseed oil mixed therewith.

Wears and covers like gold.

These Celebrated Paints are sold by Harry S. Lloyd.

Good Spirits.

Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. Their main source is the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the Blue Grass State could not remedy a bad liver or the hundred-and- one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a bad liver at the same time. Your liver must be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eye, light of step, vigorous and successful in your pursuits. You can put your liver in fine condition by using Green's August Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty-five years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active and thus insure you a liberal supply of "good spirits." Trial size, 25c; regular bottles, 75c. At all druggists. 48-ly.

Mr. L. Summerson lost a valuable cow Monday night.

Quite a large number of our townsmen attended court this week.

The log train is nearly done hauling logs to the pool from off the First Fork.

John Logue was playing with a large snake a few days ago.

The cold weather still holds out and bids fair to continue the regular six weeks.

The cry of fire was raised one night last week, and it turned out to be the coboose on the B. & S. work train.

Rev. Faus commence a series of picture lesson readings in the M. E. Church, to continue two weeks. All are cordially invited to be present and make the meetings a success.

A. L. Losey, who lost a pocketbook a few weeks ago, located the thief last Saturday and and got about all the money back, but the book and papers in it were destroyed.

The severe cold weather is causing a good deal of trouble with the water supply. G. B. Barclay's water supply is frozen up and fifteen families are out of water on account of same.

The entertainment given by the Citizens Band, assisted by several of our esteemed young ladies, which was rendered Saturday evening, in Brooks' hall, was fine and well attended. It was a drama in three acts and was well rendered by home talent. Let us have another of the same sort soon.

The hunters who were arrested last week for hounding deer on Karthaus last fall, gave bail for appearance at court March 10th, at Clearfield. It looks rather blue for them, for they are arrested for pursuing deer with dogs and killing deer in the water, which makes them liable to a fine of two hundred dollars and costs.

Escaped an Awful Fate.

Mr. H. Higgins, of Melbourne, Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had Consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the rood to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by L. Taggart, Druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial Bottles free.

Divorce cards are now quite popular in society circles in the large cities.

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorate for weak run down woman No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by L. Taggart.

He lights no lives with the light of love.

When You Have a Cold.

The first action when you have a cold should be to relieve the lungs. This is best accomplished by the free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This Remedy liquefies the tough mucus and causes its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, produces a free expectoration, and opens the secretions. A complete cure soon follows. This remedy will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment and it leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by L. Taggart.

When a boy looks saintly send for a doctor.

Parfect Confidence.

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptons of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Bastord, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy says: "I have a word of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief." For sale by Jno. E. Smith, Sterling Run.

The serious life expresses itself in simplicity.

Discovery Concerning Rheumatism.

It is now known positively that rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. The only possibly way to get this poison out of the blood is to treat the kidneys, so when they are diseased or not acting properly, the uric acid passes from the kidneys into the blood. Thompson's Barosma or Kidney Cure acts quickly, taking up the uric acid, curing the kidneys and restoring them in their normal functions. Thompson's Barosma is pleasant to take. For sale by R. C. Dodson.

Many a man lives poorly in order to die rich.

How a Doctor was Cured.

"For two years I was troubled with with lumbago, or pain across my kidneys, the pain shooting down my thigh (especially on taking cold the pain would be terrible), a continual ginding, aching pain. One bottle of Thompson's Barosma, Backache, Liver and Kidney Cure gave me immediate relief. I am now taking Barosma with great benefit as it reduces all inflamation of the stomach, liver and bladder, the great organs that regulate the whole system and purify the blood."—Dr. A. S. Hubbard, 94 Brook St., Titusville, Pa.

OUR SERIAL.

THE SCHOOL OF LIFE.

The shadows long and darksome
  Around a schoolhouse lay;
The sun was slowly setting
  At close of weary day.

A little child sat sadly
  At work, while blinding tears
Fell on her task neglected.
  For close to eyes and ears
A bobolink was singing
  Outside the schoolroom door,
While dancing sunbeams quivered
  Across the dusty floor.

She saw the blossoms nodding.
  Heard streamlets singing low
To the mountains, grand and lofty,
  As at their feet they flow.

Outside, all things are calling,
  Her home and loved ones wait,
But still the task unfinished
  Keeps the little maiden late.

At last, her work accomplished,
  The child, with dancing feet,
Goes forth in joy unbounded
  To home and comfort sweet.

Alone among the shadows
  My spirit sits today;
For all my life's dear comrades
  Have long since gone away.

Perchance some task is waiting,
  Our Teacher planned for me,
And I must toil so lonely
  Till He shall set me free.

But when it is all ended,
  May I with pure delight
Go home to greet my loved ones,
  Ere falls the dreary night.

Of the existence of this room no one but Hall and his man Hubbock had any suspicion, the entrance to it being very cunningly contrived. In most houses of the sort, where the space under the roof has been utilized as a loft for the storage of lumber—or possibly for the placing of a cistern—access to this loft is generally betokened by a small trap-door in the ceiling, either of the landing or of an upper apartment. In Hall's house there was no such trap-door, and the unbroken stretch of whitewashed, but evidently ancient, plaster on the ceilings of the upper rooms and the landing, was the best possible answer to an inquiry whether the house had an additional chamber, or even a lath and plaster-floored loft under the roof.

But had any one opened the very ordinary-looking cupboard in Hall's bedroom, and pressed in a particular way one of the pegs upon which clothes were hanging, pushing one hand at the same time against the top of the cupboard, that person would have been surprised to find that the cupboard top opened upwards on hinges, and that by letting down a rope ladder that had been tossed backward ready for use he could clamber easily into a chamber, the existence of which he would never otherwise have suspected. The rooms of Heath Cottage were all small, but by pulling down the central partition in the space under the roof Hall had improvised one apartment that stretched the entire length and width of the house. Around the sides, where, owing to the slope of the roof, it was not possible to stand upright, low and luxurious lounges, resembling eastern divans, were arranged; and in the center of the room was a billiard table, upon which—in spite of the fact that it had been brought thither in parts, and put together by Hall and his man—one could play a surprisingly good and true game. The sides of the apartment were draped with lengths of gorgeously colored and superbly worked Indian fabric, which, following the line of the roof, were caught together, tentwise, overhead, whence hung several exquisitely wrought eastern lamps, that threw soft but sufficient light upon the table below.

A more bizarre, but at the same time more cosy, apartment I have never seen in all my wanderings. Curious and out of place as the billiard table looked amid its oriental surroundings, it served to wile away agreeably many an hour which might otherwise have hung heavily on our hands; for to the "prophet's upper chamber," as our host styled the room, my colleagues and myself were confined during our stay with him.

"Well, gentlemen," he said, when he came up to apprise us of the constable's visit, "will you be surprised to hear that that polite man the superintendent of the Tarborough police has sent round specially to inquire about your health?"

Number Six, who was in the act of playing a ball and had not noticed Number Two's entrance, missed the stroke badly and let the cue fall rattling upon the floor as he turned round to face the new-comer.

"God forgive us!" he gasped. "You don't mean to say we're found out?"

"God may forgive you, but I won't, if you cut the cloth of my table," was the answer. "Found out? No, and never will be, if you'll only refrain from throwing cues about in that silly way. The constable merely called to know whether I had seen any suspicious characters about. You are safe enough here. It would take a cleverer man than any one they've got in the Tarborough force to find out this room."

"You seem to have a poor opinion of the local constabulary," I said.

"Poor opinion! Why, man alive, I've got no opinion of them. Nor would you if you'd seen the way they muddled the burglary at my friend Paul's not long ago."

"Tell us about it," I said. "A yarn will be a change after so much billiards."

"Oh, there isn't much to tell," replied our host; "but if you'd like to hear it I'll tell you, if only to give you an idea of the way the Tarborough Sherlock Holmes goes to work.

"Paul is a scientific friend of mine, a bachelor and good fellow, but the most nervous of men. There's a big orchid-growing establishment here, and as Paul is writing a book about orchids, he has taken rooms in the town for a month of two, while he's pursuing his studies. As I said, he's the most nervous man I ever knew, and one of his special nightmares is burglars—why I can't think, for he has nothing that's worth any one's while to burgle. All the same, whenever he's changing his lodgings (and he's frequently changing them) he makes it a condition that he himself shall be allowed to lock up the house every night, to assure himself that all's right, having a castiron conviction that every maid-servant is either a fool, to whom the would-be burglar makes love for his own nefarious purpose, or else that she is nothing more than a thief herself and the accomplice of thieves.

"Anyhow, before taking rooms here Paul made the usual stipulation about being allowed to lock up, and, although the people of the boarding-house thought it queer, they raised no objection, especially as Paul pays promptly and never disputes a bill. Such a thing as a burglary is almost unknown in Tarborough, but one night there was a burglary at the boarding-house, and whether it was what the German poet Heine called the satire of the Almighty, or whether the thief was a humorous cuss (as some of our profession occasionally are), and having heard about Paul's little fad, thought he'd have a joke as well as a burgle, you must decide for yourselves. All I can tell you is that every single article that the thief of thieves took away belonged to poor Paul—his new great-coat, his boots, his umbrella, his clean linen just home from the laundry, his slippers and his stick, yea, everything that was his. Of course, he got no sympathy. The landlord, though very upset about such an unheard of thing happening at his house, could scarcely refrain from smiling; the servants giggled whenever they passed Paul on the landing, and the other lodgers chaffed him unmercifully. The only person who looked solemn was our friend the constable, who came down at once when Paul sent word to the station. Paul is always afraid of the powers that be. Officialism overawes him, and when the pompous policeman fixed a sternly official eye upon the poor little chap and put two or three searching questions, my friend got so confused and self-conscious that he afterwards confided to me he more than fancied that the officer suspected him of being the thief himself. However, he did his best to conciliate the representative of the law by inviting him very respectfully into the sitting-room, where he pulled forward his snuggest chair, brought out his best 'Scotch,' and placing a syphon of soda and a box of fragrant Havanas upon the table, invited Mr. Policeman to 'help himself.' This the legal sleuthhound condescended to do—pretty liberally, too—and while Paul in his apologetic way particularized his losses, the Tarborough luminary sat with knitted brows and pursed lips, looking as learned as a judge. Finding the cigars so good and the whisky so much to his liking, he expressed a wish—when he had heard Paul out—that the officer next above him should be consulted. The maid was duly dispatched to request the presence of the official in question, to whom on his arrival his colleague passed the cigars and whisky, with the request that Paul would 'run over the details again.'

"The newcomer, after some consideration, was convinced that nothing could be done without Sergt. Davis. Once more the housemaid was put into requisition, once more Paul told his story, once more the cheering cup went round, and once more the soothing weed was kindled. The sergeant made a very serious business both of the whisky and of the robbery. He shook his head solemnly at the decanter as each detail was related, and declared, after hearing Paul to the end, that the matter was too serious for him to deal with, and that the superintendent must at once be sent for.

"Well, to make a long story short, poor Paul had the entire staff of the station at his place, where they stayed knocking their heads together and punishing his whisky and his weeds until the decanter was empty and the fireplace was strewn with cigar stumps.

"Then the superintendent took Paul aside with the air of a cabinet minister communicating a state secret and told him not to be uneasy, for, though he wasn't, for official reasons, at liberty to go into particulars just then, he might tell Paul in confidence that they'd got their eye upon some one; but as they did not get any other portion of their anatomy upon the thief for detaining purposes, poor Paul never saw his property again.

"And all the time the thief, as might have been supposed, was living in the same house. He turned out afterwards to be a humorous rascal of an Irishman—an impecunious devil who rented a room on the third floor, and had come to Tarborough to give singing lessons. The police did search his room, it is true, but, of course, they found nothing, for after securing the stolen goods the fellow had opened a ground-floor window, to give the place the appearance of having been burgled, and had then carried his booty to his bedroom, where he made it into a parcel, which he dropped out of the window into the garden below, whence it was carried away by an accomplice. Of course, the police found footmarks on the flowerbed next morning, and this confirmed the burglar theory. Hence no further suspicion attached to the other lodgers, a circumstance of which the Irishman took advantage by wearing openly the only stolen article he had retained—a pair of brown boots, which he blacked over. When he disappeared soon after, he left them—worn to the uppers—behind him, with a short note to Paul complaining of the quality of the leather. He sent his love to the police, and advised Paul if ever he found himself getting shabby about the feet to borrow somebody's brown boots and 'Try Day & Martin's blacking'!

"That's the story, gentlemen. It wasn't worth the telling, except for the welcome assurance it gives you that we have nothing to fear from the Tarborough police. And now, with your permission, we'll come to business."

CHAPTER XV.

NUMBER TWO'S LITTLE PLAN FOR PUTTING A THOUSAND POUNDS APIECE IN EACH OF OUR POCKETS.

"You have seen my man Hubbock. Well, I am venturing to propose that he be elected to fill one of the three vacancies on the council. It seems to me, when an outsider gets to know as much as, under the imperative circumstances, we could not prevent Hubbock from knowing about our business—that one of two things must happen. That person must either be more committed—must, in fact, be not only an accessory to what we have done or propose doing, but must be our actual accomplice—or else we must protect ourselves from the possibility of that person doing us mischief or of turning informer by taking the one and only effectual way of shutting his mouth. Hubbock has been with me for four years, and I can go bail for his trustworthiness. I've sounded him and find him ready and eager to be elected. He will be a distinct acquisition to the council, for an abler fellow or a man of more resource I don't know. Are you or are you not willing that he should join us? I don't want to force my candidate upon you against your own judgment or your will, so if any of you have anything to say on the matter I hope you will not hesitate to speak out."

"All I've got to say," said Number Six, "is that I'm glad to hear that the chap's ready to become one of us. I don't fancy having people knowing as much about me as he does, unless they are all in the same boat. What do you say, mates?"

My colleague and myself assenting to this view, Hubbock was summoned and informed of the decision of the council. He was a short, squat man, the grossness of whose appearance did not prepare one for his apish imitation of fine speech and fine manners. His lumpy, bridgeless nose, deep-set, prying pig's eyes, coarse-grained and pimply complexion, and huge mouth, that when he grinned stretched almost from lobe to lobe of his flapping elephant-ears, seemed ludicrously out of keeping with his mincing way of speaking. Being always self-conscious in regard to his superiority, and anxious to impress everyone with his aloofness from the common and "h"-less herd, he accentuated the aspirate, and the "t" in such words as "often," as aggressively as if they were testimonials to his own education and breeding. The effect of this was heightened by his habit of introducing into his conversation—no matter how irrelevantly—any grandiloquent phrase or high-sounding word which he had picked up, and probably only imperfectly understood.

"I am happy, gentlemen, to be thus honored," he said, with a series of stately bows. "It has from time immemorial been my heart's wish to be a member of some such honorable society. But I have for long entertained grave apprehensions ("grave apprehensions," I may remark, was a phrase which had appeared—apropos of the health of some distinguished invalid—in the papers that morning), yes, I have, I repeat, for a long time entertained grave apprehensions that I should never find myself thus favored, and I thank you from all my heart."

"Spoken like an orator of one of the good old 'immoral' times," said Hall, slapping Hubbock on the back. "Now, if you'll sit down, I've got one or two matters of business that I'd like to put before the council of which you are now a member."

There was a nasty gleam in Hubbock's little eyes, which told me that the fact of his being ridiculed was neither lost upon nor relished by him, but with a smile which displayed an expanse of false teeth, reminding me of the keyboard of a piano, he bowed affectedly and relapsed into a seat.

"Gentlemen," our host went on, "I think that the time has come when it is no longer desirable nor feasible for us to attempt to conceal our identity from each other. It is possible—perhaps probable, if I speak my mind—that the woman who betrayed us has informed the police that we are all dressed and disguised alike. But even were it not so, now that we are all thrown together in this way, it seems to me childish to keep any further semblance of secrecy. Personally I am not, and never was, very keen on disguise. That sort of thing may, and often does pass muster in the street, or in the presence of people who have no cause for looking at the disguised person too closely, or for suspecting him to be other than he seems. But—practical as false hair and false beard may be for ordinary purposes, or for deceiving strangers—I am bound to admit that I never yet met the criminal whose abilities for 'making up' were so wonderful that he could enter unsuspected into conversation with any one who had reason to be suspicious. I have read of such criminals in books, where you have to take the author's word for it that the thing happened as you are told it happened, and I have seen them in melodramatic plays, where the person who is supposed to be impenetrably disguised is placed far enough away from the audience to maintain the delusion. But, as far as my experience goes, a practiced criminal or clever detective is too knowing in the matter of disguise to be deceived by false hair and false beard. You can see the join too plainly. When the man who has been in the habit of wearing hair on his face shaves it off, or the man who has worn none lets it grow, the disguise is often extremely effective. And when he adds to the change in his appearance by a change in dress, or by skillfully darkening his skin (although, unless he darkens the whole of his body there is always a risk of being found out), the disguise is greatly assisted. But for us, at any rate, to keep up among ourselves the pretense of a disguise would, it seems to me, be idle, especially as there is the possibility, and even probability, as I have already said, that the woman who betrayed us has informed the police of the fact that we are all made up alike. I think we shall only be courting discovery by continuing the practice."

"I say ditto to that," said Number Six. "Them as is of the same opinion will oblige by hoisting a paw.

"Carried unanimous," he remarked, turning to Number Two. "There's unity for you. The liberal party ain't in it with us, for pulling together amicably. Now I've got a word of my own to say, and it's this. It's more than time this syndicate had a leader. We're not like the liberal party in that. They can do without one seemingly, but we can't, and the sooner we've got a head the better. Well, that head don't want much looking for. It's right between your shoulders—Number Two. Hands up, those who vote for Number Two.

Prepared for the Worst.

Mr. Brown's enemies say that there is nothing else in the world he enjoys so much as finding fault and putting other people in the wrong. When engaged in this pleasing occupation he loses all hold on a sense of humor which is none too keen at other times.

Not long ago he and his wife were taking a trip through the White mountains, and at one place they were to be called at 5:30 in the morning to take an early train. Mr. Brown wakened first, and after a glance at his watch fell back on his pillow with a groan that frightened his wife out of her slumbers.

"Here it is on the tick of 5:30," grumbled Mr. Brown, in response to his wife's troubled questions, "and if they don't call us within five minutes we sha'nt have time enough to get dressed and eat breakfast! But it's no more than I expected."—Youth's Companion.

"At Home" Same Day.

Two of the most eminent lawyers at the Philadelphia bar were the late Benjamin Harris Brewster and his half brother, Frederick Carroll Brewster. Both had held the office of attorney general for the state, and the first had been attorney general of the United States. They had not been on friendly terms for many years. It is said that on one occasion a mutual friend tried to bring them together, and finally Frederick C. consented to bury the hatchet and sent Benjamin H. a card containing his name, with the words written underneath, "At home on Monday evening, May 1." By the same messenger Benjamin H. sent a card in return, which read: "Benjamin H. Brewster also at home Monday evening, May 1." This ended negotiations.—Kansas City Journal.

Rectifying the Record.

The following incident is related as having occurred in South Africa: One of the soldiers who had been reported killed in a certain battle and against whose name in the regimental books a note to that effect had been made afterward turned up and reported himself. Then the sergeant made another note in the book: "Died by mistake." The man was placed in the hospital and a few weeks later succumbed to the injuries he had received. This fact was communicated to the sergeant through the colonel of the regiment and then a third note was made: "Redied by order of the colonel."—Chicago Chronicle.

Wanted Judgment Suspended.

An East Indian, who had been fined in court, wrote to the judge about it. "Your honor," wrote the appellant, "may be right, I may be wrong; I may be right, your honor may be wrong. Let your honor give me back the fine and then, at day of resurrection, when all hearts will be opened, if I am wrong, I will most gladly, sir, return your honor the money."

AND HE GOT IT.

But It Proved to Be Something He Did'nt Care to Hold Very Long.

An indulgent mother of the Tuxedo colony was traveling on a local train one day in company with her three-year-old son, his nursemaid, and a copy of a society magazine which absorbed her attention, relates the New York Times. The son was occupying the seat behind her with his attendant, who attempted every once in awhile to curb his restless and rebellious spirit by a gentle denial of his latest whim, but each time the mother, noticing only that some argument was in progress, and without looking up from her book, would remark: "Let him have it."

The nursemaid thereupon would yield to this double demand.

Finally a strong and rather venomous looking wasp flew against the window pane, and the youthful hunter reached out to grasp it, and wailed dejectedly when he was once more restrained by the watchful caretaker. Again the fond mother, without raising her eyes, exclaimed:

"Oh, do let him have it!"

And the howl which followed the nurse's compliance caused an amused smile to pass around the car.

gives to Salzer's Oats its heartiest endorsement. Salzer's New National Oats yielded in 1903 from 150 to 300 bu. per acre in 30 different States, and you, Mr. Farmer, can beat this in 1904, if you will. Salzer's seeds are pedigree seeds, bred up through careful selection to big yields.

	Per Acre.
Salzer's Beardless Barley yielded	121 bu.
Salzer's Home Builder Corn...	300 bu.
Speltz and Macaroni Wheat....	80 bu.
Salzer's Victoria Rape.....	60,000 lbs.
Salzer's Teosinte, the fodder wonder	160,000 lbs.
Salzer's Billion Dollar Grass...	50,000 lbs.
Salzer's Pedigree Potatoes.....	1,000 bu.

Now such yields pay and you can have them, Mr. Farmer, in 1904.

A Remarkable Discovery.

A German chemist has discovered a healing agent in coal oil which has created quite a sensation amongst sufferers wherever it has been tested, on account of the wonderful cures accomplished by its use. A few applications are sufficient to cure muscular Rheumatism, Neuralgia, headache, tooth, ear or backache, lameness, sprains, chilblains, in fact every severe pain. It is sold in drug stores as Dr. Bayer's Penetrating Oil in 25c. and 50c. bottles and warranted to cure or money refunded.

Failure is a spur while success may be a snare.—Chicago Tribune.

Miss Nellie Holmes, treasurer of the Young Woman's Temperance Association of Buffalo, N.Y., strongly advises all suffering women to rely, as she did, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Your medicine is indeed an ideal woman's medicine, and by far the best I know to restore lost health and strength. I suffered misery for several years, being troubled with menorrhagia. My back ached, I had bearing-down pains and frequent headaches. I would often wake from restful sleep, and in such pain that I suffered for hours before I could go to sleep again. I dreaded the long nights as much as the weary days. I consulted two different physicians, hoping to get relief but finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me. I tried your Vegetable Compound on the recommendation of a friend from the East who was visiting me.

"I am glad that I followed her advice, for every ache and pain is gone, and not only this, but my general health is much improved. I have a fine appetite and have gained in flesh. My earnest advice to suffering women is to put aside all other medicines and to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MISS NELLIE HOLMES, 540 No. Division St., Buffalo, N.Y.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

A Professional Nurse tells her experience with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Montague, Mass.

FOSTER-MILBURN CO., Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen,—I heartily wish those who are suffering from backache and disturbed action of the kidneys would try Doan's Kidney Pills. As was the case with me, they will be more than surprised with the results. I have been troubled for years with my spine. I could not lie on either side. Spinal cramps would follow, and words could not explain the agony which I would endure. While in these cramps I could not speak or move, but by making a great effort after the cramp had left me I could begin to speak and move a little, but my whole back was so sore and lame that I could not even have my back bathed for some time. My nerves were in a terrible state. I would rather sit up at night than go to bed, dreading the cramps and the terrible backaches. I consulted physicians, but got only a little relief for the time being. Seeing your advertisement, my mother urged me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. After using one box I was better, and have ever since been on the gain. I have no backache and no cramps now, and I feel like a new person. My nerves are better and I know my blood is purer. Words cannot express my thanks to you for what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. In my work as professional nurse I have a chance to recommend them; and they did me so much good that I will do so on every possible occasion.

KEEPING WATER PURE.

Simple Little Poultry Device Which Keeps the Drinking Vessel from Being Fouled.

a shelf, that projects enough to give a hen standing room. Fowls will fly up to drink as they need water. If two pans are side by side, both can be watered from one pan in the manner shown in the cut. The dish is half in one pen and half in the other, which cuts in half the work of watering. An opening is cut in the wire netting, the edge being bound about with wire.—Farm and Home.

A TALK ABOUT EGGS.

Very Little Difference in Nutritive Value of the Product of Various Kinds of Fowls.

The Maine experiment station has been examining into the composition and physical characteristics of different kinds of eggs and finds that duck eggs have apparently the smallest proportion of shell, the shell in this case being about 10.6 per cent. of the whole weight of the eggs. The average of 34 samples of hens' eggs in this respect, having an average of 11.4 per cent. of the whole weight. The shells of the goose eggs averaged 12.8 per cent. of all. Guinea fowl eggs should be unusually strong as their shells form 14.4 per cent. of their weight. The whites of the eggs in proportion to their total weight ran, goose, 52.6; duck, 53.6; guinea, 53.6; turkey, 56.5. The proportion of yolk to the whole egg ran, guinea fowl, 32; duck, 33; goose, 34.6, and turkey, 30.1.

About 70 per cent. of the edible portion of eggs is pure water. The protein centent is about 14 per cent., and the fat about the same. This makes eggs a very valuable food. Most of the protein is in the whites of the eggs, and most of the fat in the yolks. Taking the egg as a whole, including the shell, the fat content ranges from about nine per cent. in turkeys', hens' and guinea fowls' eggs, to over 12 in the eggs of ducks and geese. The protein content runs from 11 to 13 per cent. in eggs of all varieties of fowls named. There is really little difference in the nutritive value of the different kinds of eggs.

How to Prevent Swarming.

In answer to an inquiry as to how to prevent bees from swarming, Elias Fox, in Bee Gleanings, says: "I have thought of this a great deal; and the more I think of it the more firmly I am convinced that we all have non-swarmers if properly manipulated. In other words, I believe that, instead of its being natural for bees to swarm, it is the reverse. Of course, there are exceptions to all rules; but swarming according to nature is the exception (barring Carniolans). Give your queens plenty of room as needed at the proper time, and the workers the same, and I will guarantee the rule will be no swarming—at least in this latitude. I presume these few remarks will cause the beekeepers to swarm; but try this simple method and you will hive yourselves automatically.

Strength of an Egg Shell.

Most people are aware of the power of egg shells to resist external pressure on the ends, but not many would credit the result of tests recently made, which appear to be genuine, as recorded in the Scientific American. Eight ordinary hen's eggs were submitted to pressure applied externally all over the surface of the shell, and the breaking pressure varied between 400 pounds and 675 pounds per square inch. With the stress applied internally to 12 eggs, these gave way at pressures varying between 32 and 65 pounds per square inch. The pressure required to crush the eggs varied between 40 pounds and 75 pounds. The average thickness of the shells was .013 of an inch.

Preparing Buckwheat Land.

Plow buckwheat land as early as possible in the spring, and harrow occasionally until the seed is sown. This early plowing and harrowing aids in changing into a soluble and hence available form, some of the insoluble nitrogenous compounds of the soil. This will usually supply sufficient nitrogen. The early plowing also allows the soil to become sufficiently compact immediately below the surface, which is an aid in preventing injury from dry weather. Sow one bushel of seed, and apply from 150 to 300 pounds of acid phosphate per acre.—J. H. Stewart, West Virginia Experiment Station.

IN PRAIRIE LAND.

(Editorial Correspondence.)

MOOSE JAW, Assiniboia.

Farmers' Review, Chicago, July 22, 1903.

"Most of the prairies in the United States have ceased to exist. Man has broken them up with orchards, forests and farm buildings. But in Western Canada the prairies still stretch grandly from horizon to horizon as yet unmarred by the hand of man, save where the iron road has been laid. To a city man there is something deliciously restful about the vast grassy solitudes.

"Numerous clumps of trees mark the course of the Assiniboine River, which keeps in sight of the railroad for some distance.

"Grass is one of the notable things about all the landscape of Western Canada. It is a remarkable fact that the entire length of the Canadian Pacific railway from its eastern terminus to the Rocky mountains is over plains where grass grows. The sage brush appears at some points, but never to the exclusion of grass. There is thus not a mile of this country that cannot be used for some agricultural purpose—either for tilling or ranching.

"Moose Jaw is a town of over 2,000 inhabitants and one of the most important places in Assiniboia, being the center of a very good farming country and a great grain and stock shipping point.

"Near Moose Jaw agriculture and ranching go hand in hand; for near the town was seen a herd of beef cattle several hundred in number. On another side was seen a good sized herd of dairy cows, the property of the citizens in the town.

"In riding over the prairies we saw many good fields of alfalfa. The great need of the country is timber, which grows readily where planted, as was demonstrated by the shelter belts on some of the farms, and the trees on the residence lots in the town.

"Stories were told the writer of men who last year cleared from their wheat crop more than the land on which it was grown originally cost them. This is easy to believe in view of the large crop and high price for wheat last year.—Henry F. Thurston."

By sending your address to any agent of the Canadian Government you will have mailed to you a copy of an Atlas, railway rates, etc., giving fullest information regarding Western Canada.

KEEP BIBLE FOR LUCK.

Business Firm of Sycamore, Ill., Locks Book in Safe to Avoid Robbery.

At Sycamore, Ill., a well-known business firm makes it a practice to keep a Bible in the safe. This custom was commenced a long time ago and the big steel box is never locked up unless it contains the book. It is kept in the money drawer of the safe. It is found necessary to remove it occasionally, but it is always carefully replaced.

The men who adopted this queer practice when they commenced business years ago have little to say in explanation. In all their business life their safe or store has never been robbed or entered. They have had a continuous good business, and are among the most successful business houses of the town. All of the members of the firm attend the churches of the town, but all are liberal in their religious views, and the prevailing belief in the town is that holy writ is kept in the safe principally for good luck.

Bayonet a French Invention.

It is not generally known that the British bayonet, feared the world over, is not an English invention, but comes from France. It was one of those numerous instances of necessity being the mother of invention. In one of the French wars the Basque soldiers ran out of amunition. The enemy were at hand, so their officers bade them tie their long knives to their muskets. They did so, and the weapon thus made was successfully used to put to rout a charge of cavalry. The battle thus fought was near Bayonne, and so we have the name bayonet.

Three Doctors' Opinions.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Physicians have accepted Dodd's Kidney Pills as the standard remedy for diseases of the Kidneys and kindred complaints. R. H. Dunaway, M. D., of Benton, Ill., says:

"Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Diabetes after everything else had failed and I was given up to die. I have since prescribed them in my regular practice for every form of Kidney Trouble and have never as yet known them to fail."

Jesse L. Limes, M. D., St. John, Kansas, says:—

"I prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills for the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McBride of this place who suffered from Epileptic fits following Scarletina; results were miraculous; I have never seen anything like it."

Leland Williamson, M. D., Yorktown, Ark., says:—

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best medicine I know of for all forms of Kidney Disease. I believe in using the remedy that relieves and cures my patients, whether ethical or not, and I always prescribe Dodd's Kidney Pills and can testify that they invariably accomplish a permanent and perfect cure of all Kidney Complaints."

Fixing the Limit.

"No," said the editor, "we can't use your story. There's too much originality about it."

"Too much originality!" echoed the contributor. "Why, I thought you wanted original matter."

"So we do," answered he of the blue pencil, "but we draw the line at spelling."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

80 Bu. Macaroni Wheat Per Acre, introduced by the U. S. Dept. of Agr. It is a tremendous cropper, yielding in good land 80 bu. per acre, and on dry, arid lands, such as are found in Mont., Idaho, the Dakotas, Colo., etc., it will yield from 40 to 60 bu. FIX COLOR AT BIRTH.

Colored Woman to Be Made Subject of a Hospital Experiment.

Because of an experiment of Dr. J. W. Hill, of South Bend, one of the leading physicians and surgeons of Indiana, who seeks to prevent an infant born of negro parents from reverting back to the old type of the colored race, the attention of the scientific world is expected to be fixed on South Bend during the next few months. All arrangements, it is understood, have been completed for Dr. Hill's solution of the color scheme of the human race, and with the assistance of Dr. George L. Hager, also of that city, Dr. Hill expects to be successful. A colored woman has consented to act as the patient, and she will enter the hospital as soon as the rooms are made ready for the scientific event.

According to Dr. Hill, the negro's skin is more sensitive than that of any other human being, and for that reason more pigment is thrown out to protect him under the climatic conditions in which his forefathers were born, the intense heat of the tropics making this necessary. By preventing pigmentation Dr. Hill believes the child of colored parents, which is generally born white, turning dark under the sun's rays, will become whiter than the Caucasian race.

This is following the idea of Dr. Fenson, the Norwegian scientist, who found by putting a chameleon under violet rays that the pigment or throwing off of color is not of such marked extent as under the ordinary light rays.

For this reason red light as actinic rays will be employed in making the experiment, for the reason that they have a subduing effect and are not rays that irritate and prevent pigmentation. A room in a hospital will be provided which will be completely furnished in red, walls, ceiling, flooring, and furniture. Bed clothing and curtains are to be of that color, and patient, attending physicians, and nurses will wear red gowns, while the only light will come through red globed lamps. Not the faintest particle of any contrasting light will be permitted in the room.

Singular Birthmark of a Family.

Mrs. Belle Harvey, of Bower's Mill, Mo., is one of a family of four living at that place, each of whom has a curious birthmark. The family consists of three sisters and a baby two years old. Each has black hair, with a large lock of pure white hair beginning over the forehead and running backward. The flesh under this hair is also white, and the white mark runs down upon the forehead. The entire mark is said to look like an ostrich plume laid over the head of the bearer. The three sisters are 23, 21 and 19 years old. The mark is said to be hereditary in their family.

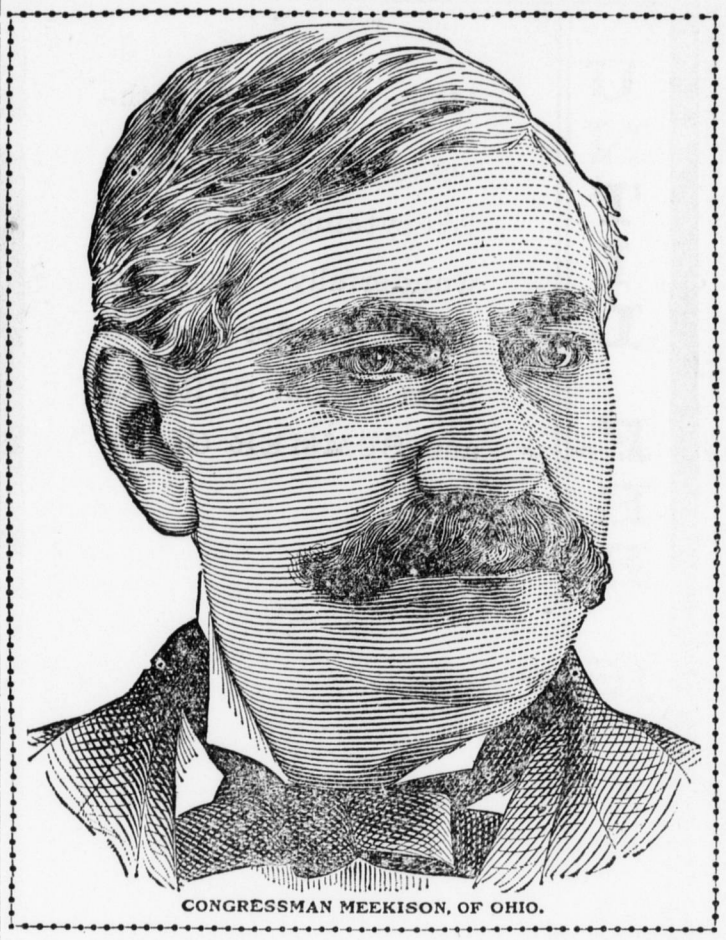
FOR THIRTY YEARS

Congressman Meekison Suffered With Catarrh—Read His Endorsement of Pe-ru-na.



CONGRESSMAN MEEKISON, OF OHIO.

Hon. David Meekison is well known, not only in his own State but throughout America. He began his political career by serving four consecutive terms as Mayor of the town in which he lives, during which time he became widely known as the founder of the Meekison Bank of Napoleon, Ohio. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the State.

Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman. Catarrh with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unconquered foe. For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against this personal enemy. At last Peruna came to the rescue, and he dictated the following letter to Dr. Hartman as the result:

"I have used several bottles of Peruna and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison, ex-Member of Congress.

THE season of catching cold is upon us. The cough and the sneeze and nasal twang are to be heard on every hand. The origin of chronic catarrh, the most common and dreadful of diseases, is a cold.

This is the way the chronic catarrh generally begins. A person catches cold, which hangs on longer than usual. The cold generally starts in the head and throat. Then follows sensitiveness of the air passages which incline one to catch cold very easily. At last the person has a cold all the while seemingly, more or less discharge from the nose, hawking, spitting, frequent clearing of the throat, nostrils stopped up, full feeling in the head and sore, inflamed throat.

The best time to treat catarrh is at the very beginning. A bottle of Peruna properly used never fails to cure a common cold, thus preventing chronic catarrh.

While many people have been cured of chronic catarrh by a single bottle of Peruna, yet, as a rule, when the catarrh becomes thoroughly fixed, more than one bottle is necessary to complete a cure. Peruna has cured cases innumerable of catarrh of twenty years' standing. It is the best, if not the only internal remedy for chronic catarrh in existence.

But prevention is far better than cure. Every person subject to catching cold should take Peruna at once at the slightest symptom of cold or sore throat at this season of the year and thus prevent what is almost certain to end in chronic catarrh.

Mrs. A. Snedeker, Cartersville, Ga., writes:

"I saw that your catarrh remedy, Peruna, was doing others so much good, that I thought I would try it and see what it would do for me. My case is an old one and I have none of the acute symptoms now, because I have had the disease so long that I had none of the aches and pains, but a general rundown conditon of the whole body—sore nose and throat and stomach. I had a good appetite but my food did not nourish my system. I had come down from 140 to about 75 pounds in weight. I now feel that I am well of all my troubles."—Mrs. A. Snedeker.

Mrs. A. Snedeker.

Send for free book on catarrh, entitled "Winter Catarrh," by Dr. Hartman. "Health and Beauty" sent free to women only.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Ostentations.

An Atchison man tells the Globe about his uncle, an Irishman, who suddenly became rich. The first thing he did was to buy the best pew in the church. When Sunday rolled around the Irishman walked grandly down the aisle, carrying a silk hat and elegant overcoat. He found two strange women occupying his pew. "Come out," he said, imperiously. The women were very much shocked, and walked out, their heads hanging in shame. "Now, then, ladies," the Irishman said, "oblige me by walking back. I just wanted to show you who owned this pew."
